MANOR RECEIVES RE-ACCREDITATION

The Middle States Association of Colleges and Schools Commission on Higher Education at its sessions on February 24 - 25, 1988 acted to reaffirm the accreditation of Manor Junior College. The Accreditation applies to Manor Junior College as a private, Ukrainian, Catholic, two-year college for women (liberal arts and career oriented) with all programs offered to men.

The Accreditation of MJC comes after a comprehensive self-study begun in Spring 1986 followed by a visit by an evaluation team in November 1987 from the Commission on Higher Education.

Coordinator of the MJC Steering Committee was Marylou Delizia, director of Counseling at MJC and a 1966 graduate of MJC.

Other members of the steering committee were:

Priscilla Crowe, chairperson of the MJC Allied Health Division and director of the Medical Assisting program and faculty member;

Suzanne Kaye, associate dean of admissions;

Joseph Stoutzenberger, director of campus ministry and faculty member;

Eileen Suffet, assistant academic dean, director, expanded functions dental assisting program and faculty member;

Nancy Brown Wildasin, director of Continuing Education.

All constituencies of MJC, including Board of Trustees, administrators, faculty, staff and students were represented on task forces studying the topic areas of the college.

Topic areas studied and chairpersons of the task forces were:

— Mission, Goals and Objectives: Dr. Madeline Seltzer, task force chairperson, co-chairperson of the Arts and Science Division of MJC and faculty member.

— Organization and Governance: John Stahura, task force chairman, co-chairperson of the Arts and Science Division of MJC and faculty member.

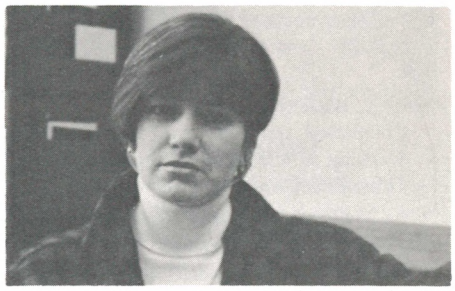
— Program and Curriculum: Anne Knop, task force chairperson, chairperson of long-range planning and faculty member.

— Faculty and Teaching: Esther Goldman, task force chairperson, acting coordinator of the Secretarial Sciences Dept. and faculty member.

— Student Life: Elaine Ratner, task force chairperson, coordinator, early childcare and human services, and faculty member.

— Instructional Resources and Facilities: Sr. Marie Francis, OSBM, task force chairperson and dean of students at MJC.

— Finance: Joanna Seemiller, task force chairperson, business division faculty member.



Coordinator

Marylou Delizia, director of Counseling at MJC and MJC alumna '66 served as coordinator of the Steering Committee for the Middle States Project.

— Outcomes: Jeanne Wurtz, task force person chairperson, coordinator computer science program and faculty member.

Task force reports were presented to the college community in open hearings and a final 100 page document submitted to the Middle States Evaluating Team prior to their visit to the college.

Copies of the MJC Self-Study are available in the MJC College Library.

The Commission in its letter reaffiriming MJC's accrediation commended MJC for its serious and forthright Self-Study as well as for the positive note struck in the institutional response to the Middle States team report.

The Commission also noted that the next Periodic Review Report of MJC will be due October, 1992.

NEW PARALEGAL PROGRAM BEGINS AT MJC

A new program, Paralegal Studies, was introduced by Manor Junior College for the Fall 1988 term.

The Paralegal is a trained para-professional who conducts research and applies knowledge of law and legal procedures when working with law firms, banks, corporations and government agencies. Paralegal students who enter this field are equipped with marketable skills that prepare them for additional career opportunities. One of the fastest growing fields, salary ranges for this new profession are $18,000 to $22,000.

The MJC Paralegal program combines a liberal arts education with specialized paralegal course work. Course work is taught by experienced lawyers who are specialists in their fields. Coordinator of the program is attorney Diane Pevar of Elkins Park.

A graduate of Temple university, Mrs. Pevar has been a practicing attorney for 10 years and has extensive experience in plantiff and personal injury litigation.

The MJC paralegal program offers externships and students who graduate from MJC's two-year program will receive an associate in science degree. Credits may also be transferred towards a four-year degree.

Students may enroll in the program for full or part-time study. The associate degree program emphasizes research skills, communication skills and training in analytical thinking.

Classwork is supported by an extensive law collection in the college library.

Phonathon Continues.....

The Annual Alumni Phonathon begun in November will continue with volunteers calling all Alumni of Manor Junior College to ask them to pledge for the MJC Scholarship Fund. Scholarships benefit full and part-time students at MJC. If you would like to be a volunteer caller for this year's Phonathon, contact Dorothy Volpe, MJC Alumni office (215) 885-2360 ext. 15.

And remember when a volunteer caller contacts you to make your pledge, tell the Phonathon caller some news about you and your family to share with your classmates.

'69 Grad Seeks Reunion

Dear Class of '69:

Our 20th Reunion should be coming up next year. Sister Cecilia said she would be delighted to have it at Manor. The college catering service and dining room staff are available to us at our cost.

If there is interest, please write or call us to get a definite number. We've tried this before without success, but would really like to get our class together in 1989. It's tough doing it long distance, but I can't think of another way to organize this. HELP!!!

Tentative date: May 27, 1989 (Memorial weekend)
Menu: up to us - preference?
Cost: dependent on number attending
We look forward to hearing from you as soon as possible.

Sincerely,
Betsy and Cathy
